

Cal ACS Outreach – Fall 2019 – Family Science Night at United for Success Academy, Oakland

On Wednesday, September 25th, our volunteers headed back to United for Success Academy, a public middle school in Oakland's Fruitvale district, for another Family Science Night event. Over 100 parents and students enjoyed pizza and a big helping of hands-on science. Cal ACS veterans J.P. Prah and James Gardner presented Build-a-Battery:

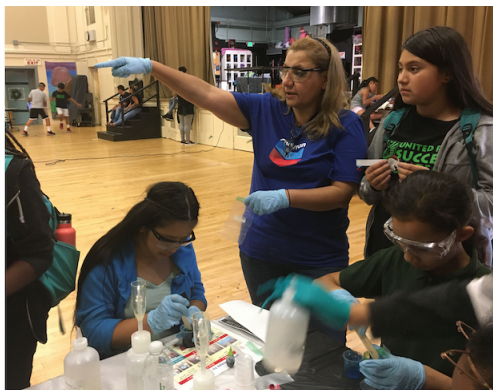

My College of Alameda students were there to explain sea-level rise and carbon dioxide acidity, with some help from UC Berkeley student Adam Satariano of Alpha Chi Sigma:

Of course, our friends from Chevron stole the show with slime:

Making Slime with Chevron
United for Success Academy
25 September 2019 © Alex Madonik

Red Cabbage Indicator responds to vinegar - United for Success Academy
25 September 2019 © Alex Madonik

