Getting Your First Job: How To Become “Business-Ready” To Stand Out Against Your Competition

Tuesday – Feb. 22nd, 2022 – 12:00 to 1:00 PM PST
Online Zoom Event

Tell me about yourself.” “Why should we hire you?” These are typical questions you will be asked during interviews. Adapting to industry jobs presents a new language challenge for scientists coming from academia. Companies are looking for your relevant experience and accomplishments. In this session we will show you how to step beyond just the technical competencies and also demonstrate you have the relevant business and social skills in order to fit into the company’s team-based work environment. Learn the SciPhD method and get a leg up on your first job. The presentation will be followed by Q & A.
